Hunterdon Land Trust Winter Farmers' Market Gears Up for Fourth Season

The Hunterdon Land Trust's winter Farmers' Market kicks off its fourth season on Sunday, Dec. 20 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Dvoor Farm, 111 Mine St. off the route 12 circle in Raritan Township.

The winter market will be held the third Sunday of every month in HLT's new rustic classroom that was once a wagon shed on the Dvoor Farm. Winter market dates for 2016 will be: Jan. 17, Feb. 21, March 20 and April 17. If inclement weather occurs on the third Sunday, the market will be rescheduled for the following week. However, if the March 20 market is canceled, there will be no market that month since March 27 is Easter Sunday.

This year, shoppers will find more than a dozen farmers and vendors:

- Apple Ridge Farm – artisan breads and pastries.
- Comeback Farm – organic vegetables.
- Farmstead Foods – Prepared foods using local farm-fresh ingredients.
- Fieldstone Coffee Roasters – Coffee (including beans and ground), teas and more.
- Fired Up Flatbread Co. food truck – pizza, pastries and beverages.
- Fulper Farms – cheese and yogurt.
- Griggstown Farm – eggs, poultry and poultry products.
- Locktown Farm -- sour pickles, dill pickles, dilly beans, pickled jalapenos and salsa.
- Milford Farms – eggs, beef and pork.
- Purely Farm – eggs, pastured pork and turkey.
- Sandbrook Meadow Farm – organic vegetables.
- Toadshade Wildflower Farm – native plant seeds, teas and nuts.

- WoodsEdge Wools Farm (December) – llama and alpaca products.

“The Hunterdon Land Trust’s Winter Farmers’ Market is part of our commitment to supporting local farms and farmers, safeguarding our rural way of life, and ensuring everyone in this area has access to nutritious and delicious local food. Extending the market season into the winter provides the farmers with income year-round and encourages them to extend their growing seasons,” said Catherine Suttle, cultural director of the Hunterdon Land Trust.
