Hunterdon Land Trust Winter Farmers' Market Gears Up for Third Season

The Hunterdon Land Trust's Winter Farmers' Market returns for a third season beginning Sunday, Dec. 21 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Dvoor Farm, 111 Mine St. off the route 12 circle in Raritan Township.

The winter market will be held the third Sunday of every month. Future market dates are: Jan. 18, Feb. 15, March 15 and April 19. If there's inclement weather on a scheduled market day, it will be held the following Sunday.

This year, the winter market grows to 14 farmers and vendors:

- Apple Ridge Farm – artisan breads and hearty pastries.
- Comeback Farm – organic vegetables.
- Fired Up Flatbread Co. food truck – pizza, pastries and The Coffee Scoop's fresh-brewed coffee.
- Fulper Farms – cheese and yogurt.
- Griggstown Farm – eggs, poultry and poultry products.
- Headquarters Farm – lamb and lamb products.
- Hollandview Farm – microgreens, and wheatgrass. -
- Locktown Farm -- sour pickles, dill pickles, dilly beans, pickled jalapenos and salsa.
- Milford Farms – eggs, beef and pork.
- Purely Farm – eggs, pastured pork and turkey.
- Sandbrook Meadow Farm – organic vegetables.
- Tassot Apiaries – honey and honey products.
- Toadshade Wildflower Farm – native plant seeds, teas and nuts.
- WoodsEdge Wools Farm (December only) – llama and alpaca products.

The Dec. 21 winter market will also welcome Whimsey Eco Chick, a local business that sells eco-sustainable, re-purposed feed bags collected from nearly a dozen area zip codes.

“The Hunterdon Land Trust’s Winter Farmers’ Market is part of our commitment to supporting local farms and farmers, safeguarding our rural way of life, and ensuring everyone in this area has access to nutritious and delicious local food. Extending the market season into the winter provides the farmers with income year-round and encourages them to extend their growing seasons,” said Catherine Suttle, cultural director of the Hunterdon Land Trust.
